

TARGET DATE FUNDS VS. TARGET RISK FUNDS

Like many investors, you may rely on investment professionals to help you find the right mutual funds on your journey to retirement. This means you may be utilizing one of the two most popular types of investment options – target date and target risk funds. Each of these professionally managed solutions allows you to choose your investments based on factors unique to you as an investor.

WHAT ARE THE SIMILARITIES AND DIFFERENCES?

For both investment options, it's important NOT to set it and forget it! Annual check-ins can help keep you on track toward your retirement goals and objectives.

WHAT ARE GUIDESTONE'S TARGET DATE AND TARGET RISK OPTIONS?

Unlike passive managers, our active managers don't simply mimic the market – they seek to identify opportunities and risks that may add value for investors over the full market cycle.

WHAT ABOUT COST?

Comparatively, the GuideStone Target Date Funds offer a lower-cost option due to the greater allocation to passive funds. However, the GuideStone Target Risk Funds offer a greater degree of active management in exchange for their higher cost.

The MyDestination Funds® (“Funds”) attempt to achieve their objectives by investing in the GuideStone Select Funds and other investments. The Funds are managed to a retirement date (“target date”) by adjusting the percentage of fixed income securities and equity securities to become more conservative each year until reaching the retirement year and then approximately 15 years thereafter. The target date in the name of the Funds is the approximate date when an investor plans to start withdrawing money. The expense ratio for the Funds includes the expenses of the underlying Select Funds. The principal risks of the Funds will change depending on the asset mix of the Select Funds in which they invest. You may directly invest in the Select Funds and other investments. The Funds’ value will go up and down in response to changes in the share prices of the investments that they own. The amount invested in the Funds is not guaranteed to increase, is not guaranteed against loss, nor is the amount of the original investment guaranteed at the target date. It is possible to lose money by investing in the Funds. In addition to age or retirement date, an investor should consider other factors, including their risk tolerance, personal circumstances and complete financial situation. The Funds are not guaranteed, and it is possible to lose money by investing in the Funds at any point, including after the target date.

The Asset Allocation Funds (“Funds”) attempt to achieve their objectives by investing in the GuideStone Select Funds.
